Certificate

Uppsala Economics Association has decided to award Jens Lepikko and Lars Winnansson a stipend of 8 000 SEK from Ingemar Carlsson's Memorial Fund for showing particular aptitude for economics, based on the completion of their Bachelor's thesis "Kan växelkursen ge exporten en skjuts? En studie om växelkursens påverkan på svensk export".

Jens and Lars have contributed further empirical evidence on a question of importance both to public policy and the field of economics. They have captured a topical discussion where classical economic theory and its conclusions are being re-evaluated in the light of a changing global economy. The authors have used advanced methods, indicating ambition and independence in their research. The thesis is well executed and interesting to read. The overall high quality of the thesis and the insightful choice of topic demonstrates a genuine interest in and a deep understanding of economics.
